

Biology Minor Test

Name - Aeri Sharma

Class - 10th

Form no. - 1002102571

Date - 30-7-23

Ans 1. The pulmonary vein brings the oxygenated blood from the lungs to the left atrium of the heart.

Ans 2. The largest artery of human body is aorta.

Ans 3. ① Translocation is the process of translocation of food prepared during photosynthesis from the leaves to other parts of the plant by the phloem tissue.

② Translocation can be in upward or downward direction and requires energy consumption in the form of ATP.

Ans 4. ① Lymph maintains the blood volume by putting the tissue fluid back into blood.

② It has lymphocytes (WBC) which helps to kill the bacteria & germs, produce antibodies etc.

③ It helps in the absorption of digested fats from the small intestine.

④ It helps in transport of nutrients.

⑤ It makes the tissues moist.