

CHEMISTRY

Ans 1. The reaction in which a single product is formed when two or more reactants combine is called combination reactions.

(b) Single Displacement Reaction.